

PLAIN MR. WILSON KISSES A PRINCESS AS PARENTS RAGE

Saved Her Life and Won Her
Love on a Slippery Mountain Top.

CHASE OVER CONTINENT

Their Highnesses Couldn't Get Away From That Portland, Ore., Lumber Man.

From the tip of Glacier Point in Yosemite Park, Cal., to a palace in St. Petersburg may be quite a distance, as geographers figure it, but not according to the computations made by a small person who always poses for his photograph in wings and a quiver full of darts.

Incidentally, the Princess Sophia Casarim of St. Petersburg and Graham H. Wilson of Portland, Ore., take the same view of distances as the young fellow in wings.

That was shown to-day when the America of the Hamburg-American line sailed; or, to be more exact, just a minute before she sailed, Prince Andrew Casarim and the Princess Maria, his wife, were on deck and wondering where that eighteen-year-old daughter of theirs—the girl with the big black eyes—was hiding herself. They soon discovered.

Just before the gangplank was pulled ashore the Princess Sophia was discovered saying something very prettily and poutingly to a six-foot tall, broad-shouldered American person on the wharf whom Papa the Prince had thought to have been definitely and conclusively shaken off the trail back in San Francisco.

RESCUES HIS PRINCESS FROM FALL INTO SPACE.

Just as Papa the Prince started angrily for the wharf the Princess Sophia concluded here farewell to the big American in a well, in a thoroughly Russian and fitting fashion. Then big Graham Wilson, for that is the name of the hero, strode down to the end of the pier to wave until the Princess Sophia was nothing but a blur against the rail.

All this business engineered by the boy with the wings started, you see, out in the Yosemite Valley when the Princess saw her papa and mamma terribly by crawling out to the tip of Glacier Point on a wet day when the rocks were slippery. Glacier Point is nothing but a rock hanging over about 1,500 feet of pure mountain ozone.

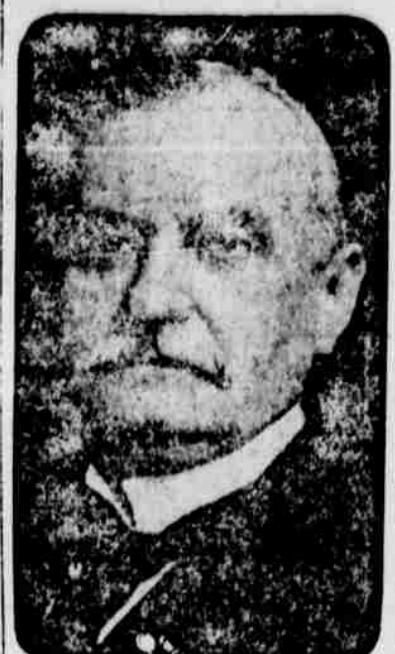

The Princess herself did not realize how dangerous was her headstrong excursion out to the tip of space until she heard her father's cry behind her and then tried to retrace her steps. She was getting dizzy and had a terrible "gone feeling," when a strapping big fellow—none other than Graham H. Wilson, lumber buyer of Portland—rushed out on the perilous rock and carried the dainty Russian princess back to safety.

MR. WILSON KEPT ON TRAIL
ACROSS CONTINENT.

Well, in the ensuing case Mr. Wilson, "though said, in San Francisco there are no precedents from which to rescue Russian maidens, but there are other advantages for the god with the wings. Then when Papa the Prince said he thought he'd take Sophia away to St. Petersburg, where there wouldn't be any Mr. Wilson, the family got as far east as Chicago—and there was Mr. Wilson!

Then the jump to New York and the sailing to-day, but who was there at the pier to say adieu but not farewell to the fair Princess Sophia? Why, Mr. Wilson.

FINANCIER WHO IS CELEBRATING 62D BIRTHDAY TO-DAY.

THOS. F. RYAN

THOMAS F. RYAN STARTS
HIS 62D YEAR TO-DAY.

Celebrates His Birthday as Quietly as if He Didn't Have a Cent.

It is the sixty-first birthday of Thomas F. Ryan to-day, but the Traction and Tobacco King is making no splash over it. He is keeping it as quietly as any man might who was too poor to buy a bit of cake. So far as could be seen at his residence at No. 53 Fifth avenue there was no sign of any celebration at all of the circumstance that the financier had entered upon his sixty-second year. His friends say little things of this sort are not much in Mr. Ryan's way.

Mr. Ryan has been prominent in financial circles for more than half his life. It was in 1870 that he first went into Wall street. Four years later he became a member of the Stock Exchange and made himself more and more felt until he captured his position by his capture of the control of the Equitable Life Assurance Society in 1906, a control he later sold to J. P. Morgan. He was born in Nelson County, Va., Oct. 17, 1851, and he still maintains a home at his birthplace.

Consumptives Helped by Tuberculosis Medicine

It is folly to believe that Consumption differs from every other disease in not requiring the use of any medicine for its treatment. For a number of years an enormous mass of voluntary and thankful testimonials from persons who consider that they owe their lives to Eckman's Alternative, a medicine for Tuberculosis, has been accumulating. Surely plenty of time to demonstrate its lasting value. You can write to any of them. Here is one:

6523 Girard Ave., Phila., Pa.
"Gentlemen: In the winter of 1903 I had an attack of Grippe, followed by Pneumonia and later by Consumption. I grew steadily worse. In the winter of 1904 I had cough, night sweats, fever and rapid quantities of awful looking stuff and later I had many hemorrhages. At one time three in three successive days. Milk and food became no nourishment. I could keep nothing down. Three physicians treated me. I was ordered to the mountains but did not go. Eckman's Alternative was recommended by a friend. After taking a small quantity I had the first quiet night's sleep for weeks. My improvement was marked from the first. I gained strength and weight and appetite. I never had another hemorrhage and my cough gradually lessened until entirely gone. I am perfectly well now and my health here can be verified by my family and friends."
(Signed) ANNE F. LOUGHRAN.

Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Trouble, and in upbuilding the system. It contains no opiates, stimulants or habit-forming drugs. For sale by all druggists. Ask for booklet telling of its virtues. Write to Eckman Laboratories, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

to-night. I. V. Schavrelin, leader of the Sixteenth Assembly District, will preside at the first, at the Borough Park clubhouse. Dr. Edward Thompson will be in charge of the second, at the headquarters of the North End Progressive Club, Dumas and Gravesend avenues. The speakers, who will attend both meetings, include Jesse Fuller Jr., candidate for Congress from the Eighth District; George A. Hann, Senatorial candidate from the Eleventh District; former Deputy Commissioner of Elections C. V. C. Van Deusen, Edward J. Curran, E. V. Reel, Francis Lynch, George H. Babcock and others. The Committee of Arrangements include Carl Weiffenbach, Edward Zimmerman, Milton Chapman and Henry Freydenberg.

WORTH KNOWING.

When it is known that its power to strengthen the system and build up the body is why Father John's Medicine cures colds, it will be understood why it is so valuable as a tonic and for driving the impurities out of the blood. It feeds the tissues and makes strength. Prevents pneumonia and consumption. Not a patent medicine, and free from poisonous drugs. Fifty years in use.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Flora Clark, of Connellsville, Penn., says: "After a severe cough, which lingered a year, no other medicine helping me, I have been cured by Father John's Medicine."
